When I get to sixth grade I won't be scared of anything. Except missing the bus to go back home! So I guess I always want to know where my bus is to make sure I get on the right one. I like doing a lot of things after school. What clubs and sports are there in sixth grade? I need to find out because I want to play basketball and join the art club. And I want to start my own dog rescue club. I'm going to call it "Ugly Dog Adoption." Because most people only want to adopt the cute and fuzzy ones. Anyway I hope I can find other sixth graders who want to be in my club. Does anyone ever get lost in the middle school? I don't think I will. I'm just saying: some kids might want a map or something like that so they know where to go.
