What is the homework for today? Is it hard? Is it going to take me the whole night? Will I have time to hang out with my friends? Those are the things I want to know every day in sixth grade.

My fifth-grade teacher didn't care when we talked without raising our hand. I'm kind of loud. I like to shout out the answers. But how do teachers in sixth grade want you to act? Also, there's two kids I know who are bullies.

They tell secrets and say mean things. I think it would be good if I could stay far away from them. Like, if I know where they are, I could go a different way to get to class.
